The Problem

Addressing missing or lost pets in India

Missing Pets

Thousands of pets go missing annually in India, causing distress for owners and challenges for recovery efforts.

Disorganized Tracking

Traditional tracking methods are often slow, uncoordinated, and rely on chance, leading to reduced recovery rates.

Low Visibility

The absence of real-time location visibility greatly diminishes the chances of recovering lost domestic animals.

Challenges in Rescue

Without a structured system, rescuers face difficulties in locating and aiding lost or stray animals effectively.

Lack of Unity

There is no single platform that connects pet owners, rescuers, and shelters for efficient communication and action.
